WILL PROBABLY MOVE THE FREIGHT YARDS.

Mr. McGarity, mention of whose arrest for blockading Orleans street was made in yesterday's Enterprise, was brought before Mayor Wheat this morning to answer the charge. The evidence in the case went to show that the switch engine did not occupy the crossing over three minutes. Mr. Putnam, who was present, stated that he had been conferring with the head officials and that they had now under consideration the advisability of moving the yards further up the track and until something of that kind was done did not see how it was possible to carry on the company's business without occasionally using this end of the yard on account of all the ware houses being located on this end of the line. "The fact is," said Mr. Putnam, "the town has grown to the yards and is about to take them in."

About the only solution of the problem now is to move the freight yards further out, and to do this it will take some little time.

Marshal Eastham stated that he was simply acting in accordance with his instructions from the city council which were to the effect that there was to be no switching in this end of the yards east of Orleans street.

It is safe to assert that the public will not object to a reasonable amount of necessary switching until something can be done by the railway company to get a new location for yards but no one will deny that this privilege has been grossly abused in the past and is likely to cause more radical action unless the requirements of the ordinance are adhered to.

You will think that Flowers Department Store are strictly in it when they price your beautiful line of Fascinators, 15c to $1.

In another column will be found the ad. of G. A. Taylor, who enjoys the distinction of being one of the most efficient stenographers in the state. He was formerly employed by P. J. Willis & Bro. at Galveston and they speak in the highest terms of his qualifications.

FIRED AT A BURGLAR.

R. W. Sanders who lives at 497 Pine street, gave a burglar a scare last night that will have a good moral effect on him at least. The bath room in Mr. Sanders residence is located just south and adjoining his bed room. The communicating door was a little ajar and about 3:30 a. m. he heard the window rattling as if some one was trying to enter an entrance. He quietly picked up a 38 Colts revolver and slipped to the door where he could get a partial view of the bath room. Presently some one raised the window about two inches and reaching inside picked up a black skirt which he evidently mistook for a pair of trousers and after a careful examination threw it aside. He then raised the window a little higher and struck a match, giving Mr. Sanders a full view of his face. When in the act of springing in Mr. Sanders fired, the ball passing within a few inches of his head. From the short space of time it took him to regain the back fence he was evidently not looking for such an early reception, and escaped without securing anything. The burglar was about medium height and wore a full unkempt beard, either light or slightly gray. Footprints were found this morning around the window and they showed where he had mounted the sill ready to spring in but the screeching window made it a different story. Yesterday afternoon two men called and one of them asked Mr. Sanders for something to eat while the other one asked for Mr. Sanders stating that he wanted work. Mrs. Sanders told him that her husband was not at home, meaning that he was not in at present, but he evidently thought that Mr. Sanders was not in town and decided to call later with the above results.

NO FIGHT TONIGHT.

Cincinnati, February 15.—There will be no contest between Jeffries and Ruhlman or any one else in the Saengerfest Hall in this city tonight and no other date has been fixed for the event. Neither will there be any mobilization of troops outside of the hall or anywhere else that night or any time in this city to keep Jeffries and Ruhlman from meeting here. The permanent injunction issued by Judge Hollister to-day against the proposed championship battle tomorrow night or at any time has caused the indefinite postponement of the arrangement of the State and county authorities as well as the promoters of the contest. Jeffries and Ruhlman still maintain their quarters but they are not doing much training, and both expect to leave for their respective engagements next Saturday night to keep their dates on the road next week.

When the joint conferences adjourned tonight it was announced that nothing had been done except to postpone indefinitely the contest. It was announced that there would be another meeting tomorrow, at which time it would be decided whether the defendants would carry the case to the case to the Circuit and Supreme courts and the contest be postponed to such a date as would allow time for counsel to carry the case to the higher courts. While no such definite information was received from the promoters tonight as expected, yet it is believed to be due to some controversy over the $5000 forfeit and not to any question regarding the injunction. The promoters announced that they will abide by the decree of the court absolutely.

COMMISSIONERS COURT.

The commissioners court have at last completed the task of redistricting the county and passed to other business. Bids were asked for burying the county dead and was awarded to W. A. Langham at a rate of $2.45 each. Mr. Stone bid $4.50. This is quite a reduction from the former price of $11.

A road was ordered to be opened up from Sour Lake to the southern boundary line of the McFarland survey, a distance of about six miles.

A count of the county money deposited in the different banks showed a credit as follows: First National $32,000; Beaumont National $2000.

The salaries of the county officers were fixed the same as last year. They are now looking over the bills for the last quarter.

In speaking of The New Fast Mail the Toledo Blade of August 13 says: The weather man very kindly adjusted the temperature so that it was possible for The Fast Mail to make its appearance before a large audience at the formal opening of Burts last night. The mechanical effects of Lincoln J. Carter never seem to grow old to the theatre goers and they always flock to the theatres whenever one of his melodramas is advertised.

The cast this season is an extremely strong one; indeed better than that of any of the past seasons.
